Dear Friends,

The Rock school year of 2011-2012 broke all speed records. It went by so fast that there wasn't time to get in enough words o gratitude to all who made it special.Thanks to the senior class. I am proud of the way you set a tone of cooperativeness and respect for one another. I hope this book does you honor. I am grateful for the courage and energy of Mr. Patrick McGrath in his first – of many, I hope – years as SSC's principal. Everyone whose picture is in these pages will, I'm sure, find in him many virtues they can admire and imitate. To the teaching, coaching, and dorm staffs, I am grateful for your creativity, your generosity with your time, and for your support. Thanks to the faculty newcomers to SSC for jumping in feet first with fresh ideas. The Buildings and Grounds crew worked hard behind th scenes to serve everyone and every activity, and the food services staff is on the verge of making SSC's culinary reputation overshadow its academic and athletic achievements. Thanks to the Advancement Team, the Athletic and Band Boosters, and the Nicaud family, who keep breaking records fo fundraising and turnout at SSC events.With Mrs. Aimee Saucier, I thank everyone for the patience you showed in the transition to a new state-of-the-art security system throughout the campus.And finally, in your name I offer thanks to the Lor for the gift that our librarian of thirty years, Mrs. Virginia Gex, was for us. May she rest in peace.

St. Stanislaus has seen many changes in its 158 years – its buildings and piers have been rebuilt time and time again; presidents, principals and administrations have come and gone; students, of course, have inevitably made their ways in the world after graduation. The various faces and places around campus have lent our school a kaleidoscope of looks over the years, shaping and reshaping our campus, staff and student body. Yet, despite the constantly shifting appearances of our school, there are some important things that have not changed. The Brothers of the Sacred Heart, who founded our school in a vastly different age in 1854, nevertheless built SSC away from the sand and on solid ROCK, both literally and figuratively. The mission of this special place has not wavered, even if the structures and the people who occupy them have shifted over time. Now, just as then, St. Stanislaus College's aim is to stand as a sanctuary where students can find what is truly important and unique about them and allow them to use God's gifts to better themselves and the larger community. We are thankful that our young men have continued that tradition of character and kindness and we look forward to seeing how that translates to their successes when they leave SSC. Good luck and godspeed, class of 2012! Courage and confidence!

Rockachaw Regiment

This year, the Rockachaw Regiment was taken over by Mr. Taylor Pierson. The Regiment went through hours of practice through out the summer and every day during football season. Each Friday night, they would serenade the crowds to the famous Stanislaus Fight Song. This year, the Rockachaw Regiment performed at the Mississippi State Marching Evaluation in Gulfport, Mississippi, and received an overall rating of Excellent. Drum Major Todd Williams received ratings of Superior, which is the highest rating given, and the Drum Line received a rating of Superior. The Regiment also performed at the Deep South Marching Festival in Theodore, Alabama, and scored all Superior ratings. This was the first time in many years that the Regiment has scored all superiors. They also marched a multiple parades during Mardi Gras and represented SSC very well.

Drama Club promotes an appreciation of drama as an art form and produces a fall stage play and a spring mucial. They have been very busy during the 2011-2012 school year. In October, they presented the fall production of "Twain's Tales," which was a re-telling of six Mark Twain stories. The small but powerful cast included Alex Denette, Dylan Devenny, Karl Krynen, and Jamie McCarroll. The spring production was "Beowilf: The Musical." It featured Lex Adams, Austin Cradic, Claire Burkes, Dylan Devenny, Jamie McCarroll, Quinten Barrios, and a large supporting cast. The club's moderator, and director, was Dr. Trim. Austin Cradic served as student director and Dylan Devenny as music director.

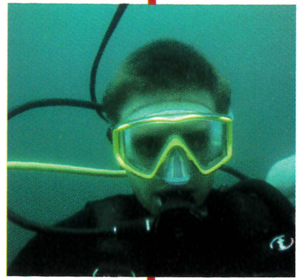
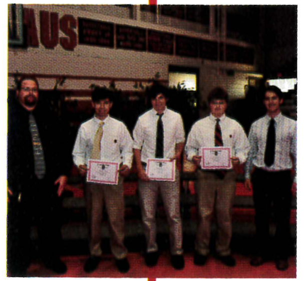
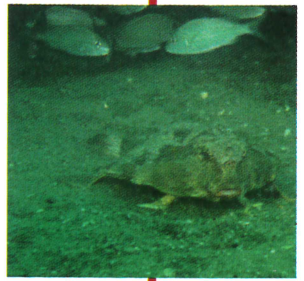
SCUBA Club

Self-Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus







The SCUBA club gives SSC students the opportunity to enjoy and learn about the ocean environment. Camaraderie and concern for others, as well as concern for and an appreciation of our natural environment are also emphasized. SCUBA Club offers the ability to become certified scuba divers, which opens up the possibility of a life long hobby. Once certified, divers can participate on monthly dive trips.

Some of those trips this year have led to encounters with barracudas, rays, amberjacks, triggerfish, and sea urchins. On two separate dives, SSC divers saw and interacted with two black tips and a seven-foot nurse shark. These are just some of the experiences that the SCUBA club has encountered this year. Mr. Bailey served as moderator this year with David Skaladzien as President and Gregory Samms and Dustin Heitzmann as Vice-Presidents.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

"Over 1,000 cans of food were donated by SSC students and faculty for the FCA Thanksgiving Food Drive"

"Before Christmas, they collected toys, games, and arts and crafts for children who were displaced from their families and might not have received a gift this year for Christmas."

The FCA is a nationally recognized assembly of student athletes who value the meaning of Jesus in their lives. The SSC Chapter fosters good sportsmanship and Christian values in athletics, and plans and participates in yearly projects such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter family sponsorships.

This year, FCA provided a number of services to the community. Before the Thanksgiving holiday, they collected over a thousand canned goods from the students and staff at SSC. This was enough food to help make Thanksgiving Baskets for all those in need throughout the year. Before Christmas, they collected toys, games, and arts and crafts for children who were displaced from their families and might not have received a gift this year for Christmas. For Easter, they collected Easter Baskets for children who were in need and these were delivered to a local church.

This year, Mr. McClure served as moderator with Clint Vancourt as President, Alex Maxwell as Vice-President, Spencer Klein as Secretary, and John-Paul Drouilhet as Treasurer.

Easter Egg Hunt

Jacob Rafal did not know what to expect when dressing up as the Easter Bunny. He soon found out that being in a bunny suit for about an hour, in 80 degree weather, is no easy task.

Eggs were hidden in all kinds of places, including bushes and "egg plants."

Running out of places to hide eggs, Luke Bradley begins to simply throw eggs through out the grass.

Gulf Coast Clean Up

More than 3,100 volunteers collected 2,218 bags of trash along 262 miles of Mississippi Gulf Coast. The cleanup, which usually focuses on the Coast's mainland and barrier island beaches and waterways, has expanded to include lakes, rivers, marshes, bayous, estuaries, and other watershed locations in the marine waters extending as far north as Interstate 10. The 2011 Cleanup included 77 sites in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

Operation Christmas Child

Operation Christmas Child is a service organization sponsored by Samaritan's Purse. The program ensures that children, who are less fortunate, receive a Christmas gift. This year, Key Club, with help from National Honor Society, was able to stuff over 30 boxes with small toys and toiletries. The boxes were then delivered to Gulfport Baptist Church, where they were boxed and shipped off the the OCC headquarters.

Easter Egg Hunt

The Easter Egg Hunt was held on the lawn of Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center. Over 2,000 eggs were stuffed, with either candy or toys, and hidden throughout the area. Signs marked the different divisions of age groups, but that did not stop the younger children from racing into the big kid area. About 50 children participated in the hunt and fun was had by all. The Easter Bunny, Jacob Rafal, showed up as the special guest and made children laugh, cry, and smile.

Over 30 boxes were collected for Operation Christmas Child.

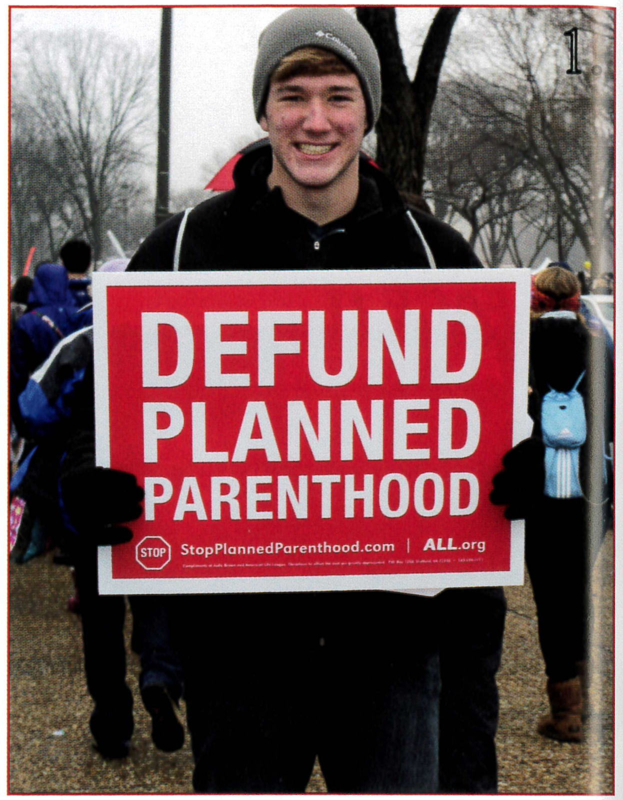
March for Life

Washington D.C. - 2012

On January 20, 2012, forty-four SSC and OLA students ventured off to Washington D.C. for the annual March for Life. During the twenty-two hour-long bus ride, multiple gas stations were attacked by these “pro-lifers” looking for food, drinks, and a place to charge their phones. After arriving in D.C., they visited the Smithsonian and the many National Monuments. On January 23, 2012, SSC and OLA join hundreds of thousands of other people in the March for Life. They marched from the Smithsonian to the Supreme Court, in freezing cold temperatures, knowing that they were making a difference in the fight for life.



Dane Knight took advantage of being up north. This had been the first time many "pro lifers" have ever seen snow and everyone was playing in it. Cars were even covered with snow!

Disturbing images of actual abortions lined the streets of the march, showing the truth behind the reality of throwing life away.

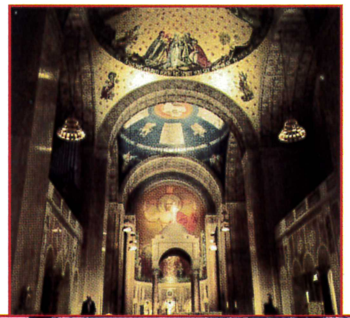
1. During the March, signs were given out to everyone participating. Will Hazen marched down the street holding his "defund planned parenthood" sign.

2. Being from Mississippi, cold weather and snow are two things Josh Williams and Alice Gates are not use to. After playing in the snow they warmed up in the hotel.

3. SSC and OLA consisted of 44 people, the only "school" from the Mississippi Gulf Coast, to go and protest abortion.

4. While in D.C., fun was also had as Amy Love, Balius Lee, Christian Davidge, Joey LoCoco, Katherine Taylor, Ryan Joachim, and Gavin Gros went ice skating



Visiting the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception for mass was another highlight of the trip.

Temperatures were below freezing and rain was falling, which allowed for snow! Playing in the front of the hotel with snow was something that everyone looked forward to every night.

Representative Steven Palazzo met the everyone from the Mississippi Gulf Coast during the march.

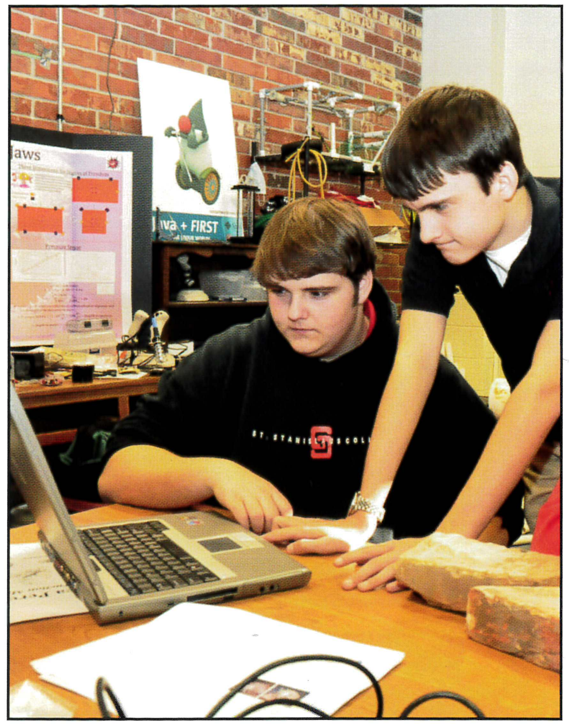
Robotics

Robo-Rocks

The robotics club prepares students for inter-scholastic competition in the design, construction, and competitive demonstration of robots. The junior high robotics club members develop skills and expertise for entry into the high school robotics team.

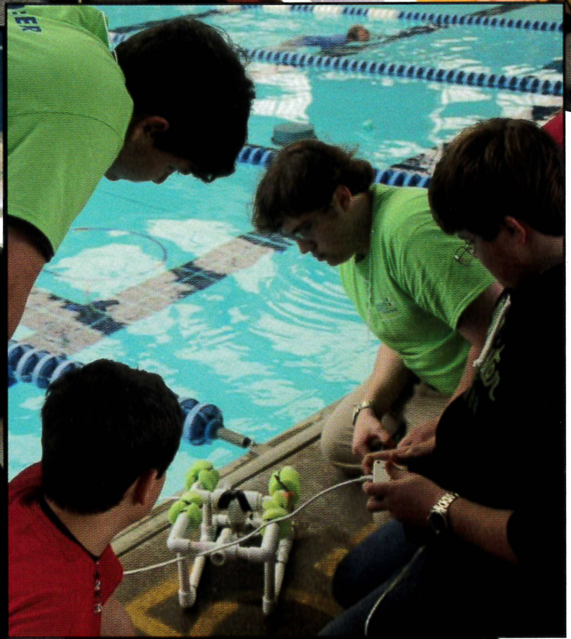
This year, the Robotics Club met routinely once a week to gain valuable experience in electrical, wiring, engineering, and software programming, but more importantly in teamwork. The high school club members made every effort to be mentors to the up and coming junior high students. The robotics team successfully built five Sea Perch underwater ROVs, at first mainly for practice and teambuilding skills, but ultimately ended up competing with them.

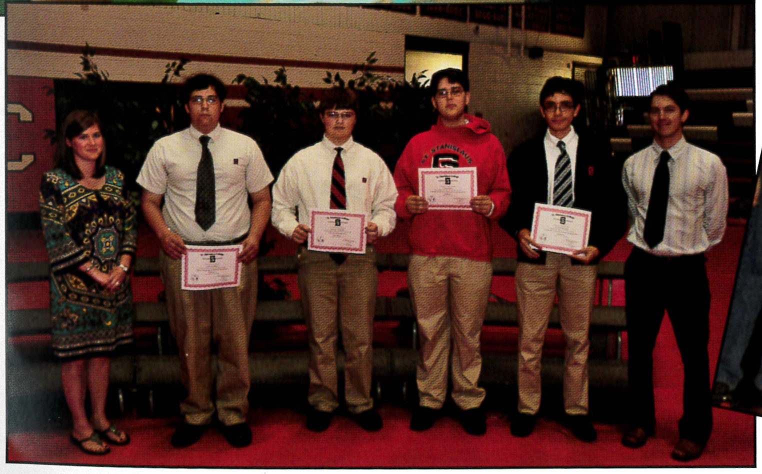
This year's moderator was Mrs. Boudreaux with Chris Perkins serving as Team Captain, Gregory Samms as Chief Programmer, and Cody Bouis and Anwar Baroudi as Head Public Relations Coordinators.



Many hours of programing went into the making of each robot and ROV.

At the ROV competition this year, the Robo-Rocks got an award for least amount of alternations to their ROV during competition.





Vice-President
Josh Gibson

Looking back at the end of the school year, neither Alden nor I really changed the school through Student Council like we planned at the beginning. We thought it was going to be hard to be the next group of guys after last year's team who put on an amazing blackout homecoming pep rally, but we also knew we could step up and do our best to get the school involved. Along the way I realized that Student Council is not about one-upping the last group, but instead working in the present and doing our best to bring school-sponsored relief to students in a hectic world. No matter what happened during the year, if I saw people having fun, I felt like we did our job. The times like Chase Caffey's off-the-dome freestyle during the homecoming pep rally, and everyone getting fired up at dodgeball tournaments, were the times when I felt like we accomplished our goal. I have to give credit to Mr. Martin and everyone else who showed up early to meetings on Mondays trying to make the year better for everyone. Without them, I don't know what we would have done. And last but certainly not least, I would like to thank the students of our school because even though it sounds cheesy, we wouldn't be here without you all. As my senior year, and term as Vice President ends, my advice is to not just sit and complain about the problems in our school, but to actively fight to make each year the best possible. DEUCES

President
Alden St. Mary

As Student Body President, I would have to say we had a very successful year. After being elected, I was immediately faced with Homecoming Week. If it was not for my superb group of representatives and very supportive Vice President and Secretary, Homecoming Week would not have run so smoothly. We also set up various theme dodge-ball tournament that funded various clubs. A major goal of this year's Student Council was to not end up in debt. I can gladly say that our financial sector did a great job of not going into debt and staying positive. I am pleased to have been your President for the 2011-2012 school year. Thanks,

ELE.

Quiz Bowl

Quiz Bowl participated in many interscholastic quiz competitions. This year in competition, the "A" team of Chris Perkins, Gregory Samms, Sam Wittmann, and Nick Denette placed 3rd out of 17 teams on the coast. They had a record of 10 wins and 3 losses. The "B" team, which consisted of Austin Cradic, Anwar Baroudi, and Reid Horstmeyer, placed 1st out of 5 teams along the coast. This was a significant accomplishment with only a three person team because most teams are composed of more than just three people. Mrs. Hamm served as moderator for the 2011-2012 school year and the team said that they cannot thank her enough for everything that she has done for them.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders inspire leadership on and off the field. Their primary purpose is to support athletic programs and lead the crowd before and during the game. Cheerleaders play a huge role in leading school spirit in and around the community. This year they had three very talented and spirited squads. The Cheerleaders worked tirelessly to perfect skills and improve motions, tumbling and stunts. They attended camp in Starkville at Mississippi State with the Junior High squad and Ole Miss in Oxford with the JV and Varsity squads.
The junior high won several ribbons and competed well. The JV placed first in home pom and second in cheer. The Varsity placed first in home pom, cheer, and received a spirit stick each day. The Varsity squad was chosen as best overall squad and all 6 girls trying out for all American made it. These girls were invited to perform in the Macy's Thanksgiving parade and perform at the Capital One Bowl Game. Meg Artigues and Matti Scardino were given applications to teach at UCA camps next year . Brooke Thomas was given a "play it forward pin" given in honor of a UCA cheerleader that was killed in an auto accident who showed spirit and kindness towards team members.
They also represented SSC at several charity and community functions including water stations at charity runs, welcome station at Bridge fest, face painting at St Rose fair and SSC homecoming, and marching in Mardi Gras parades in Slidell and New Orleans.

Cross Country

At the beginning of every race, each runner lines up at the starting line; awaiting the signal for them to sprint away. While some may think the main goal is to run as fast as you can and get a head of everyone, the main goal of cross country is simply to run the distance.

Swim Team

The Aqua-Rocks

According to Thomas Allard, "The swim team this year placed second at State, had a record of 32 wins and 3 losses, and many swimmers are being looked at for spots in the 2012 Olympics. The team has never done so well before." Of course his statement is a little far fetched, but there is a little truth behind it. This team has been called "the most successful swim team in Stanislaus history." With a South State win and a second place win in State, this statement shows a little validity. The relay team of Thomas Allard, John Paul Drouilhet, Daniel Kergosien, and Bennett Holland broke the record at SSC in the 200 freestyle relay and 400 freestyle relay. Along with all that success, the SSC aqua-rocks were undefeated in non-invitational meets. Will Hazen stated that his source of energy came from the song "Let's get it started" by the Black Eyed Peas.

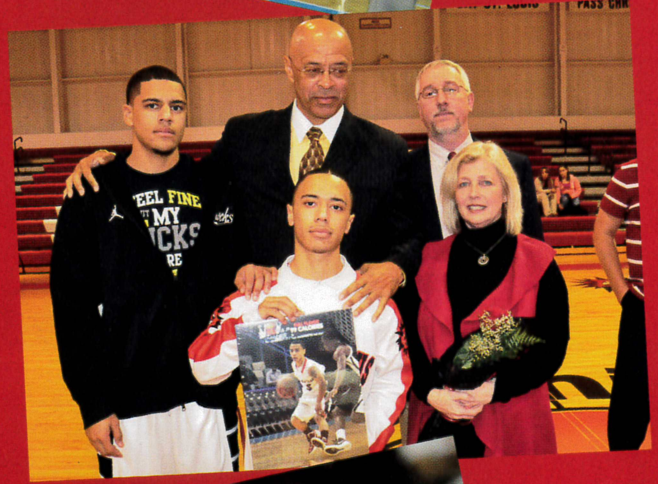
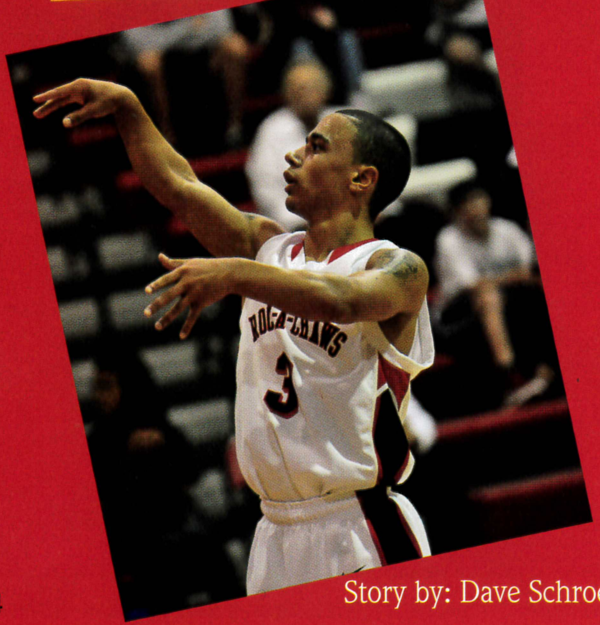
Malcolm Reid





This is Malcolm Reid.

The son of former NBA player Billy Reid.

Starting point guard and co-captain for defending state champion St. Stanislaus.

An under-the-covers-before-the-light-goes-out speedster who is armed with a deadly crossover and court vision that is better than 20-20.

THIS... is Malcolm Reid.

"I'm Malcolm Reid. I'm 4'9" and doctors said I could never walk, and now I'm playing ball," Reid states.

Malcolm was born bow-legged, and with his hips out of alignment. Doctors looked at x-rays and said he'd never put one foot in front of the other.

He's lived his whole life proving people wrong. And he's had a strong support system along the way.

"Just the fact when they said he would never walk was kind of a low point," says Billy Reid, Malcolm's father. "But we believed in God, believed in him, and he got through it."

Billy Reid played for the Golden State Warriors for 3 years in the 1980's.

Having grown up on the tough streets of New York City, Billy has a chip on his shoulder, and he has taught his son to work hard and never give in to others' expectations.

"He said whatever you want just go get it, and I'll be right here helping you," Malcolm remembers.

First Malcolm learned to walk, then to run. But when Malcolm was a high school freshman, he was cut from the Oak Grove basketball team.

"The coach cut him because he was so short, and I stuck with him, worked him out and it's paid off," Billy said.

Malcolm has since gone out and earned everything the hard way, paying his dues on JV at St. Stanislaus.

When legendary high school coach Ricky Stone took over the program this year, he quickly realized that he had found the Hope Diamond in the rough.

"Ever since I stepped foot on this campus he's been a leader," Stone says. "He plays a lot bigger than his size, that's for sure. He's very quick, and a tremendous ball handler as well."

"People say I have a crossover like Derek Rose. I'm so quick because I'm low to the ground, and nobody can really guard it," Malcolm says.

Not surprisingly, Malcolm's favorite player is Mugsy Bogues, the shortest player in NBA history, a 5'3" guard who logged 14 years in the NBA.

"Just watching him play how hard he played ... he was just like, 'Bring it on,'" Malcolm said.

At St. Stanislaus, Reid brings it...on both ends of the floor.

"His first step is pretty quick, he can get by you very quickly, and the fact that its not bouncing that high makes it that much tougher," Stone explains. "Once you watched him play, you notice he was a guy that was overcoming, and beating the odds."

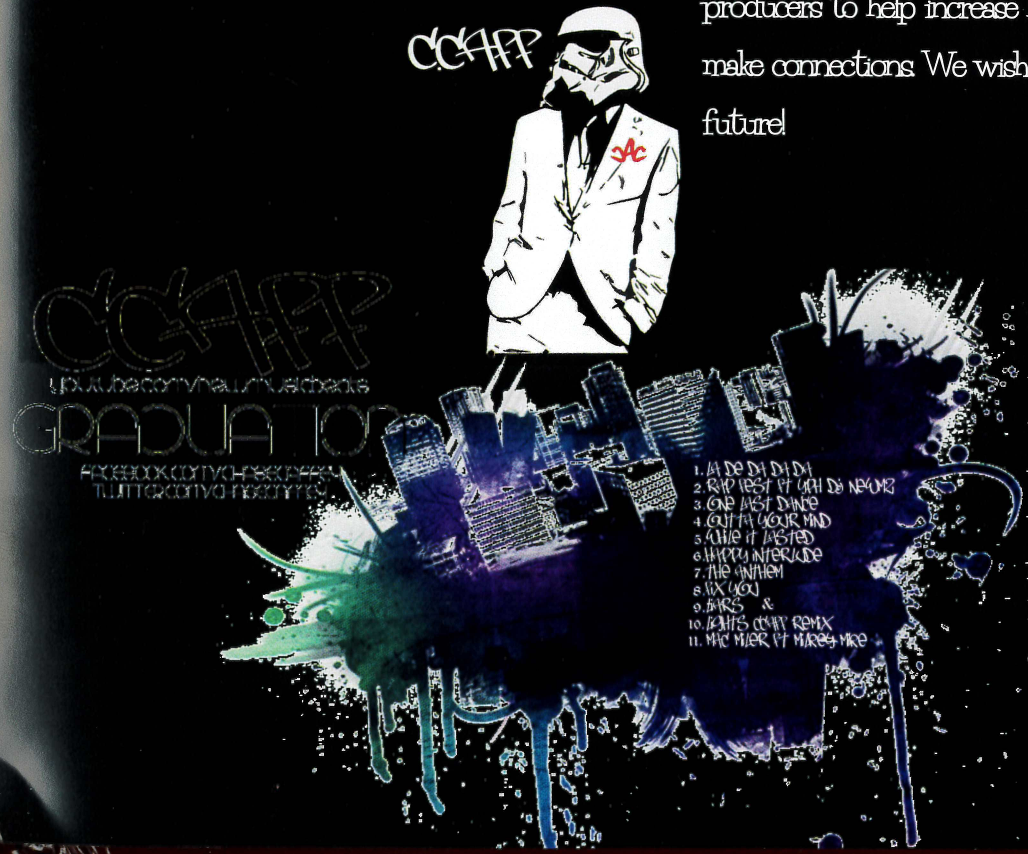
Chase Caffey

"a music genius"

Chase Caffey [CCaff] has attended St. Stanislaus since the 8th grade. In his freshman year, his music career started to take off when he began making his own beats on his computer at home. At first he began making music as a side project in his spare time, since then it has become his main passion and focus. In 2011, he was signed by Curry Entertainment for rapping. Although rapping was never his main goal, he continued to pursue both making his own beats and taking it one step further and making his own songs. In the December of 2011 he was contacted Harrison Tobin about his production skills. After pulling some strings, Harrison held a meeting with Dr.Dre and showed him Chase's music. Dr.Dre decided that he liked what he heard and told Harrison to give Chase a job as a producer under Harrison Tobin when he turned 18. If all goes as planned, Chase will fly out with Harrison in the summer of 2012 to meet Dr.Dre and other producers to help increase his production skills and make connections. We wish him the best of luck in his future!



'Music has always been much more than a hobby for me and I've come to realize that I can't escape it; in a way it has become a part of me. I want to show the world the endless possibilities that music has to offer. Every kick- every snare- each in its own unique, perfect, equalized sound.'

Homecoming 2011

Student Council spent tireless hours planning homecoming week this year. In the end, they decided on a college t-shirt day, Hawaiian shirt day, sports day, and a spirit day. Student Council Vice--President, Josh Gibson, said, "this was the best year yet!" When Friday, September 30, 2011, finally arrived, the SSC Rochachaws were ready to fight the Vancleave Bulldogs. The poppin' pep rally, which was also sponsored by Student Council, featured our very own Chase Caffey, also known as C. Caff. With the cheerleaders cheering, fans screaming, and football team pumped up, a victory was right around the corner. The Rockachaws defeated the Bulldogs 21 – 7. The 2011 Homecoming Court consisted of Caroline Collins, nominated by Ryan Joachim, Meg Artigues, nominated by Trey Doussan, Emily McDermott, nominated by Alden St. Mary, Amy Love, nominated by Dane Knight, and Matti Scardino, nominated by Bo Brennan. In the end, Meg Artigues took the Crown. The Homecoming Dance was full of high energy, dance battles, and fun for all. With a closing performance by C. Caff, Homecoming 2011 came to an end, and went down as one of the most memorable Homecomings ever.

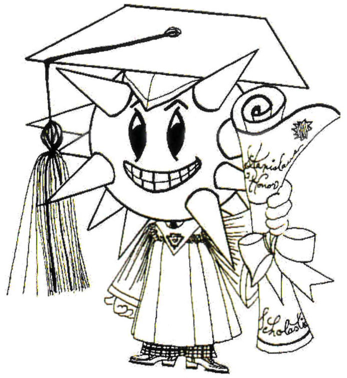
Taking on Leadership

Senior Ring Ceremony

The Senior Class of 2012 recieves their senior ring and take on the responsibility of leading SSC



Mr. McGrath began the ceremony explaining that the class of 2012 would officially begin taking on the responsibility of leadership at SSC. On September 8th, 2011, the seniors received their rings.

Unlike most class rings, the SSC ring stands for so much more. Since the mid 1970s up until now, each class has received a ring that is exactly the same, except for the graduation year. By having the same ring, each class is united and each class shares a connection to SSC. Another reason why Stanislaus rings are different is because rings are distributed to the senior class. Most schools distribute rings to juniors, or even sophomores! Instead of having a class ring, a senior ring shows the leadership of a school; not only to the students, but to everyone else.

Craig Hughes presents the rings for a blessing.

For two days before, the rings sat on this display stand as seniors awaited the night until they could actually wear them.

Deep thought and reflection was the main goal of each retreat. One of the most monumental experiences of an SSC retreat is the 9th grade retreat. During this retreat, students are asked to write a letter to themselves and God, the letters are then stored until their senior year. During the senior reatreat, the letters are then distributed to each student so that they can see how much they've grown.

Prom

The Travels of James Bond

April 28, 2012

To some, Prom is simply just a dance, but to others, especially seniors, it is an opportunity to spend one last dance with your class. It symbolizes that last moments that the class as a whole will be together, at least until the reunion. License to travel, to party, and to prom. This year, the Junior/Senior Prom sold over 200 tickets and everyone showed up in their best "James Bond" attire. While most groups showed up in buses or limos, for the first time, a group of seniors took a yacht to prom. Walking into the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, couples were greeted by SSC and OLA Faculty. After checking in with the Faculty, each senior voted for King or Queen and each Junior voted for Prince or Princess. In the end, Robert Hall and Holly Raymond won Prince and Princess, while Min Seok Kim and Ashleigh Hoda won King and Queen. Unfortunately, both the King and Prince were missing in action and could not be found. After the crowning, everyone danced to a number of songs that would forever be stuck in their heads. No 2012 SSC dance would be complete without a performance from C.Caff. Chase performed one of his new songs from his Graduation album, along with a classic from his previous album. Once the clock striked 11, everyone was ready to go continue the festivities elsewhere. Overall, fun was had by all and the Seniors will forever remember their last prom.

For over 10 years, Mr. France has been going to Klagetoh with a group of SSC student volunteers. Each trip, they have a handful of projects that they do within the one week period.

There were two major projects that were worked on this year. They started by clearing off a large piece of land. It was covered with shrubs and bushes and the team cleared it all using hoes and shovels. They also helped put up sheet-rock in new buildings.

Kairos Retreat

God's Time

Adapted to mean "God's time", Kairos is a Christian retreat program for high school and college students that began in Jesuit schools in Ohio, but now takes place around the world. The retreat is an intense few days, usually during a long weekend, that provides participants the chance to contemplate God's role in their lives. Kairos weekends are led mostly by the peers of the participants. The Student team is composed of both seniors and/or juniors who have already experienced the weekend, and a few faculty from the school. The difference between Kairos and other retreats is that it focuses mostly on helping one find his or her own personal relationship with God during a few days of discerning and discovery. During this process, the retreatant also becomes very close with the others involved in the retreat. Through the course of the retreat, a building of a strong community takes place, through encouraging openness, reflection, and trust.

At SSC, Kairos has been held nine times since 2002. After Hurricane Katrina, Kairos was put on hold to deal with recovery. In 2010, Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan brought it back with the sixth session. Over the course of the past ten years, SSC has had over 150 students experience the movement. Never once has someone left this retreat with regreat, and everyone is encouraged to participate.

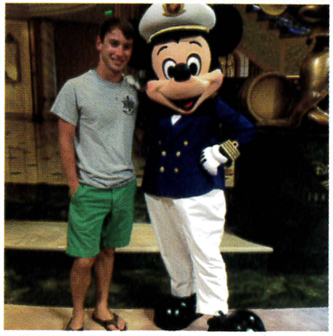
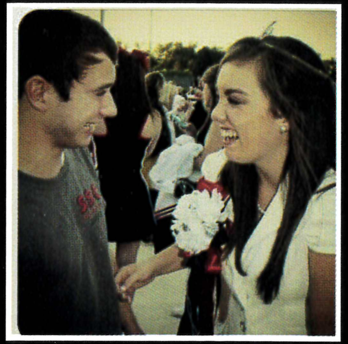
He has also brought the yearbook to new heights lobbying for a full color yearbook. In 2011, SSC had its first yearbook produced in all color.

Letter From The Editor

Ryan Joachim





It is no secret that I am from a family that is obsessed with Disney. So it only felt right that a couple of Disney references were included in my final farewell...

Think of the lamp from the movie “Aladdin.” The merchant says, "Do not be fooled by its commonplace appearance. Like so many things, it is not what is outside, but what is inside that counts." We should never underestimate ourselves. Doing so only seems to discourage us from what we truly want to achieve. The way I see it, we are all capable of achieving anything we set our minds to, it just takes a little effort. You should also never assume that you know someone else’s story, just like others should never assume yours. In the movie “Pocahontas,” it is stressed that “if you walk the footsteps of a stranger, you’ll learn things you never knew you never knew.” We should all be attentive and listen to what others have to say; it is the best way to learn how to be a better person. We must also be aware that our own opinions can cloud our judgment; that we sometimes do things we would not normally do. I challenge everyone to stand up for what they believe in, no matter the consequences.

Reflecting back on the teachers I have had, I have realized that they all truly wanted what was best for us. I have also realized that: Mrs. Bellone freaks out when your shirt is not tucked in, do not break any displays Mrs. Boudreaux has, Mr. Cherota does in fact know everything, Mrs. Farrior is one of the nicest people you will ever meet, Mr. France secretly wants to move back to Brazil, Mrs. Hamm loves ghost stories, Brother Harold can talk for hours about nothing, Mrs. LaFontaine has not had a picture in the yearbook for over 20 years, Coach Logan never smiles, Coach McCall does in fact give enough time for his essays, nothing beats Mr. Terry’s cooking, Mrs. Perkins is one of the best math teachers I have ever had, Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan will always be there for you, Coach Abdou does not like Canadian French, Mrs. Walters almost blew herself up for our own education, and Mr. Zwerg does in fact know if you are on Facebook or not. With all of that in mind, I just wanted to say thank you to all the teachers I have had over the past 7 years.

In the four years that I have been Editor of Reflections, we have gone through three moderators. There is not doubt in my mind that yearbook has to be one of the most stressful clubs to moderate. Not because of the amount of work, but because dealing with me has got to be a handful. Day after day Mrs. Saucier has had to deal with me asking for ads, ideas, and for the yearbook cover. She has wanted to pull her hair out since day one and I hope that she can finally relax now knowing that, together, we created an amazing yearbook. Also, while not an official moderator, Mr. Gieber has also proven to be one of the most helpful advisors. Every month you could find me in his office asking for pictures. He has taken the majority of the pictures in this yearbook and without him, none of this would even be possible. He also served as our chaperon to yearbook camp this past summer at Ole Miss, even though he is not a big Ole Miss fan.

Just as Walt Disney once said "All our dreams can come true, if we have the courage to pursue them." I hope that everyone in the Class of 2012 achieves great things and never loses sight of what is important. And just as Mickey Mouse said "See ya real soon."

Many have similar circumstances as you have had but few are able to overcome society's placed obstacles related to such circumstances. You are living proof that you now have the learned ability to confront and conquer future obstacles and as a result you will achieve and add to society as we currently know it.

Promise me that you will always give faith a fighting chance and I promise you I will always be near.

Another turning point, a fork stuck in the road
Time grabs you by the wrist, directs you where to go
So make the best of this test,
and don't ask why
It's not a question, but a lesson learned in time

It's something unpredictable, but in the end is right
I hope you had the time of your life

So take the photographs, and

Hang it on shelf in good

For what it's worth, it was

Reflections

It's not over; It's just the beginning.

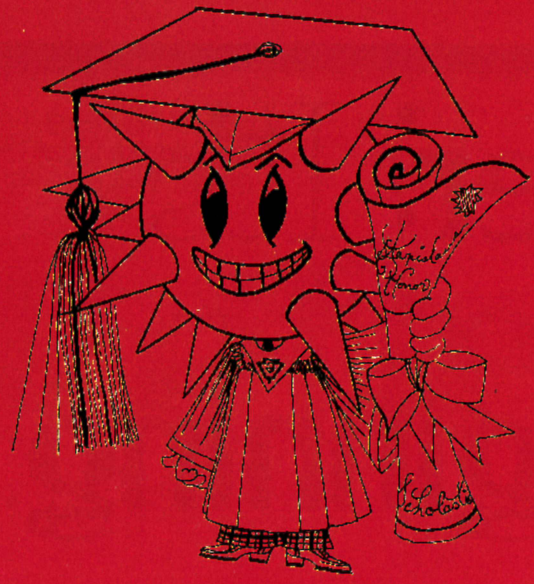
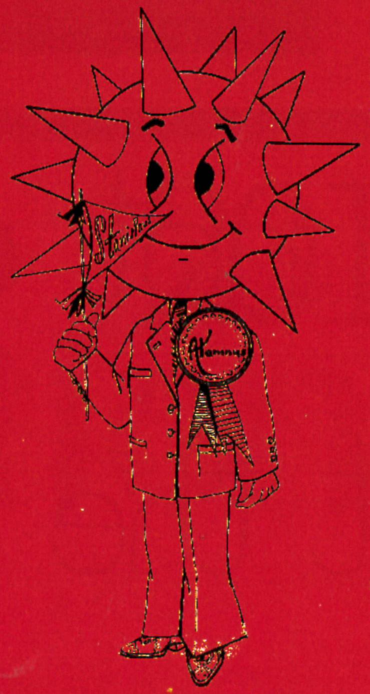
The Class of 2012





In Loving Memory of

Mrs. Gex

For thirty years Mrs. Gex was a welcoming presence in the SSC library. She worked tirelessly to rebuild the library after all of the contents were lost during Hurricane Katrina and she even circulated books when the school reopened in November 2005 after the storm. Mrs. Gex's dedication shined after Hurricane Katrina in her work of securing the Laura Bush Foundation Grant to rebuild the SSC Library.

Mrs. Gex was a Rock-A-Chaw through and through and she will be missed by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, and the SSC alumni, staff, and students, especially the members of the Junior and National Honor Societies that she moderated.
